

A fun and easy way for kids to learn about missions.

Hello Parents,

This week, we'll get to know two inspiring young ladies who raised more than $15,000 for water wells in Kenya. Mia Goldman and Emma Reeves heard about the water crisis in that country and decided to act. They organized a "Walk for Water," where participants walked one mile to a local pond. After collecting water, they carried it back, replicating the trek girls and women in Kenya make each day.

Although your kids may not be traveling internationally to serve right now, we hope this story challenges them to think of creative ways they can make a difference, right where they are.

Pre-video Discussion Questions

- Have you ever done something special that made a positive difference in someone's life? What was it? How did you know what to do to help?

VIDEO

In today's video, meet two young ladies who decided to act when they saw a need.

Post-video Discussion Questions

- Mia and Emma saw a problem and decided to act—is there something that needs help in your community? What could you do to make a difference?
- Jesus was always making a difference for people who had challenges. Can you think of any other Bible characters that saw a problem and decided to act? (Moses, David, Esther, Nehemiah)

Prayer Points

- People around the world with no clean water.
- Ask kids what they would add to the prayer list.

Did You Know?

- Maranatha has drilled 51 water wells in Kenya since 2016. Each well serves hundreds of people in the community.
- Since 2008, Maranatha has drilled water wells in Angola, Bangladesh, Brazil, Cuba, Dominican Republic, India, Kenya, Mozambique, Zambia, and Zimbabwe—a total of more than 1,000 wells!
- Kids make for creative donors for missions. We've had kids sell eggs from their chickens, collect cans to recycle, start a fundraiser in school, or make and sell crafts. Then they donate their money to Maranatha to help a community in need.
