

A fun and easy way for kids to learn about missions.

Dear Parents,

This week, come with us to the African nation of Zimbabwe, where we'll meet two ladies who must walk an hour each day to collect water. Elizabeth and Rhoda have dedicated much of their lives to this essential resource, but their families depend on them to continue walking those miles each week. However, if they didn't have to spend so much time gathering water, there would be more time for their families, education, and careers.

Today, the ladies are excited because Maranatha has arrived to drill a well. Watch as the drilling crew is forced to make a tough decision—do they drill past the depth that the geology report expects them to find water, or pack up and move to the next site? We hope your children see how they can turn to prayer in situations that are out of their control.

Pre-video Discussion Questions

- Have you been in a situation where you felt like you had no way to change what happened? How did it feel?

VIDEO

In today's video, see how a community in Zimbabwe anxiously prays for clean water when none may be found.

Post-video Discussion Questions

- Once in a while, no water is found at a drilling site. Why did the drilling crew think about stopping the drilling at Elizabeth and Rhoda's church?
- Why do you think everyone stopped to pray when they weren't finding water?
- Have you ever been in a situation where you knew the only thing you could do was to pray? What was it?

Prayer Points

- People around the world who must walk for a long time each day for water.
- Ask kids what they would add to the prayer list.

Did You Know?

- Zimbabwe has 16 official languages, including English.
- Zimbabwe is home to the world-famous Victoria Falls, the largest waterfall in the world based on combined height and width. Zimbabwe and next door neighbor Zambia share the waterfall.
